New business continuity course

SINGAPORE'S Business Continuity Management Institute (BCMI) has launched a programme to certify entry and mid-level business continuity professionals in Asia. BCMI's executive director Goh Moh Heng yesterday signed five agreements with local, Chinese, Thai and Indian-based organisations to launch the programme in several countries. The Singapore Business Federation has agreed to jointly issue the BCMI Certification programme here, and Temasek Polytechnic will jointly run the BC Foundation certification course with BCMI.
